

Online Ethics Center
FOR ENGINEERING AND SCIENCE

Empowering Faculty to Cultivate a Culture of Ethics

Author(s)

Cynthia Schairer

Year

2021

Description

Based on the idea that standalone ethics courses have limited impact, this project aims to support faculty and students in starting conversations about ethics in the course of research and mentoring and throughout the engineering curriculum. The project resulted in the creation of this website, which houses guidelines and case studies on research ethics.

Body

```
{"preview_thumbnail":"/sites/onlineethics/files/styles/video_embed_wysiwyg_preview/public/v
6LbLRNdc.jpg?itok=rLCXiZBZ","video_url":"https://youtu.be/ee-
6LbLRNdc","settings":{"responsive":1,"width":"854","height":"480","autoplay":0},"settings_s
Video (Responsive)."]}
```

Rights

Use of Materials on the OEC

Resource Type

Multimedia

Parent Collection

ER2 Lightning Talks

Topics

Teaching Ethics

Mentors and Trainees

Community and Participatory Research

Discipline(s)

Engineering

Research Ethics

Teaching Ethics in STEM

Publisher

Online Ethics Center